

This publication, Twenty Questions and Answers About the Ozone Layer: 2006 Update, is a component of the 2006 report of the Montreal Protocol Scientific Assessment Panel, Scientific Assessment of Ozone Depletion: 2006. The answers are based on the information presented in the 2006 and earlier Assessment reports. This component was discussed by the 77 scientists who attended the Panel Review Meeting for the 2006 Assessment report in June 2006. In addition, subsequent contributions, reviews, or comments were made by the individuals listed below.

Lead Author

David W. Fahey
NOAA Earth System Research Laboratory, USA

Reviewers/Contributors

Stephen A. Montzka (Special Recognition)
NOAA Earth System Research Laboratory, USA

Ross J. Salawitch (Special Recognition)
California Inst. of Technology/NASA Jet Propulsion Laboratory, USA

Daniel L. Albritton
National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (retired), USA

Stephen O. Andersen
U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, USA

Pieter J. Aucamp
Ptersa Environmental Consultants, South Africa

Mark P. Baldwin
NorthWest Research Associates, Inc., USA

Alkiviadis F. Bias
Aristotle University of Thessaloniki, Greece

Greg Bodeker
National Institute of Water and Atmospheric Research, New Zealand

Janet F. Bornman
University of Waikato, New Zealand

Geir O. Braathen
World Meteorological Organization, Switzerland

John P. Burrows
University of Bremen, Germany

Marie-Lise Chanin
Service d'Aéronomie / IPSL (CNRS-UPMC-UVSQ), France

Cathy Clerbaux
Service d'Aéronomie / IPSL (CNRS-UPMC-UVSQ), France

Martin Dameris
DLR Institut für Physik der Atmosphäre, Germany

John S. Daniel
NOAA Earth System Research Laboratory, USA

Susana B. Diaz
Centro Austral de Investigaciones Científicas (CADIC), Argentina

Ellsworth G. Dutton
NOAA Earth System Research Laboratory, USA

Christine A. Ennis
*Cooperative Institute for Research in Environmental Sciences
NOAA Earth System Research Laboratory, USA*

Veronika Eyring
DLR Institut für Physik der Atmosphäre, Germany

Vitali E. Fioletov
Environment Canada, Canada

Nathan P. Gillet
University of East Anglia, UK

Neil R.P. Harris
University of Cambridge, UK

Malcolm K.W. Ko

NASA Langley Research Center, USA

Lambert Kuijpers
Technical University Eindhoven, The Netherlands

Gloria L. Manney
NASA JPL/New Mexico Institute of Mining and Technology, USA

Richard L. McKenzie
National Institute of Water and Atmospheric Research, New Zealand

Rolf Müller
Forschungszentrum Jülich, Germany

Eric R. Nash
Science Systems and Applications, Inc., USA

Paul A. Newman
NASA Goddard Space Flight Center, USA

Thomas Peter
Swiss Federal Institute of Technology–Zurich, Switzerland

A.R. Ravishankara
NOAA Earth System Research Laboratory, USA

Alan Robock
Rutgers University, USA

Michelle L. Santee
Jet Propulsion Laboratory, USA

Ulrich Schmidt
Johann Wolfgang Goethe Universität, Germany

Gunther Seckmeyer
University of Hannover, Germany

Theodore G. Shepherd
University of Toronto, Canada

Richard S. Stolarski
NASA Goddard Space Flight Center, USA

William T. Sturges
University of East Anglia, UK

Jan C. van der Leun
Ecofys, The Netherlands

Guus J.M. Velders
Netherlands Environmental Assessment Agency, The Netherlands

Darryn W. Waugh
The Johns Hopkins University, USA

Christos S. Zerefos
National and Kapodestrian University of Athens, Greece

Publication Layout and Design

Debra Dailey-Fisher
NOAA Earth System Research Laboratory, USA

Graphic Art

Dennis Dickerson
Respond Grafiks, USA

Coordinating and Technical Editor

Christine A. Ennis
*Cooperative Institute for Research in Environmental Sciences
NOAA Earth System Research Laboratory, USA*

Editorial Assistance

Debra Dailey-Fisher
NOAA Earth System Research Laboratory, USA

Brenda S. Irish
NOAA Earth System Research Laboratory, USA

Cover: Satellite image of the Antarctic ozone hole for 4 October 2001, from NASA (see Question Q11 of this publication). Cover design by Debra Dailey-Fisher (NOAA Earth System Research Laboratory).